COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course will take an academic approach to speech communication. The course will examine the basic elements of research, construction and delivery of original public presentation. By understanding what components go into a good speech an individual will look more confident in their presentation.

Oral communication is the most predominant, most efficient and most effective method by which we interact with others. This is true for both our personal lives and our professional lives. There is little doubt that we are living in an increasingly communicative age. Our recent and ongoing transition from a post-industrial society to an information-age society has intensified the need for functional competence in speaking and listening. This is especially true for a nation that has chosen to make an amendment about freedom of speech its First Amendment. The ability to speak clearly, eloquently and effectively has been recognized as the hallmark of an educated person since the beginning of recorded history. Under the label of “rhetoric,” the study, and the theory and practice of speech communication was a central concern of the ancient Greek, Roman Medieval, Renaissance, and early modern education. In the United States, rhetorical training has been a part of formal education, since Harvard’s founding in 1636.

INSTRUCTOR EXPECTATIONS AND POLICIES

In order to be successful in this course, you will be expected to:

- Purchase the textbook within the first week of class.
- Follow instructions and ask questions when you are uncertain of the course material.
- Create a calendar consisting of the assignments and their respective due dates.
- Access the course daily to check for messages from your instructor.
POLICY FOR ASSIGNING AN INCOMPLETE “I” GRADE

An incomplete grade is a temporary symbol given for work not completed because of serious interruption not caused by the student’s own negligence. An incomplete must be made up as quickly as possible but no later than two consecutive semesters after the initial taking of the course or it will automatically default to an "F" or the grade that the student earned in the course. There is no extension of the two semester deadline. The student must not register again for the course to make up the incomplete. Students who have incomplete grades on their records must remove the incomplete by the end of the fourth week of the term in which they plan to graduate. Failure to do so will result in a cancellation of graduation.

Incompletes are awarded only if the student has completed most of the course work. If a student misses a significant portion of the course work, he/she should drop the course. If the drop period has ended, the student may petition for a withdrawal—this requires the student to un-enroll in all of their courses for that semester. Incompletes are not to be used because a student took on too many credits and they cannot complete everything that is now required of them.

In such cases where the course instructor determines that it appropriate to award a student a grade of "I" (incomplete), the following steps must be followed.

Using an Official University Form the course instructor will report the following:

- The grade earned by the student to date
- The missing work and the percentage of the final grade it represents (this requires the details of the specific missing assignment)
- The date the instructor expects the missing work to be submitted or in the case of an examination made up.
- The justification for awarding the grade of "I"
- Have the student sign the form.
- Submit this form to the Department Chair and Dean and maintain a copy for instructor records and provide a copy for the student.
- Upon satisfying the requirements for a grade the instructor will sign off on the form and attach it to the change of grade form she or he will submit.
ALL ASSIGNMENT DEADLINES

The departmental and course policies governing the acceptance of late assignments were adopted for the purpose of ensuring each student in the course is treated fairly and held to the same objective standards. The department, in adopting the late assignment policy, concluded that it was reasonable for students enrolled in a class to be responsible for the following:

- to understand and to respect an assignment’s posted due date;
- to read and to abide by the course policies posted within syllabus; and
- to review and to learn how to upload assignments properly in Turnitin.com

As such, requests for extensions related to the mismanaging of one’s time, unfamiliarity with course policies contained within the syllabus, and/or not following an assignment’s posted submission instructions are not compelling reasons for an instructor to grant an extension and will, therefore, be denied.

Extension requests accompanied with proper documentation for medical emergencies or technical problems directly attributable to FIU, Moodle, and/or Turnitin.com are reviewed by your instructor or the Department Chair on a case-by-case basis. Requests without documentation will be denied. The decision to grant an extension based on technical problems or medical/family emergencies will be determined based on the documentation provided along with the request.

- All technical problems must be reported to FIU’s Technical Support or Turnitin.com prior to an assignment’s deadline. Once a student reports a technical problem, FIU Technical Support or Turnitin.com investigates and makes a recommendation to the instructor. Technical problems attributable to your own computer or your ISP -- internet service provider -- are not sufficient grounds for granting extensions.

- All documentation related to medical emergencies must be dated, signed by a licensed medical professional and contain the licensed medical professional’s contact number. It is expected that such documentation will be submitted no later than two weeks after the assignment’s due date. Supporting medical documentation is always kept confidential.

Once again, the departmental policies and procedures were adopted for the purpose of ensuring that all students in a class are treated fairly and are evaluated using the same objective standards. Your understanding and cooperation are both greatly appreciated.
EXPECTATIONS OF THIS COURSE

Attendance: You will be expected to attend every class session. More than one unexcused absence will result in a loss of points from your final grade. There will be no exceptions. Missing an exam or presentation will result in the loss of all points for that exam or presentation.

Tardiness: You will be expected to arrive at class on time.

Outlines: Outlines are due the day of your speech. Outlines must be typed on 8 1/2 X 11 inch paper, using full sentences and bibliography. An Outline is required for the informative speech.

Delivery: All presentations will be extemporaneously (Conversationally) delivered. Reading or memorizing a presentation will result in failing the assignment. However, you will be permitted to use no more than 5 3X5 or 4X6 inch speaker cards with key words on them while you speak. Manuscript is used for special occasion speech.

Visual Aids: They are required for the narrative, informative and persuasive speeches. They do not need to be professional prepared, but they must look professional. Criteria will be discussed in class.

Dress: This is a professional speaking situation. Therefore, you will be expected to dress appropriately for each presentation.
